

Annie Lo, DVM, DACVS

ACCESS – Los Angeles

Dr. Annie Lo, a California native who grew up in San Francisco, received an undergraduate degree in Molecular and Cellular Biology from the University of California, Berkeley in 2000, after which she extended her studies with research in human hematology.

In 2009, Dr. Annie Lo completed her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree at the University of Illinois, going on to complete a small animal surgical and medical internship at the University of Pennsylvania, where she stayed on as a Small Animal Surgical resident.

Today, fully entrenched in the Department of Surgery at ACCESS Animal Specialty Hospital in Los Angeles, she is a highly regarded doctor, with interests in minimally invasive procedures (including laparoscopy, thoracoscopy), urinary tract surgery (ureteral stent, SUB - Subcutaneous Ureteral Bypass), surgical oncology, reconstructive wound surgery, emergency surgery and various other procedures.

She resides in Los Angeles with her husband and two kids who together enjoy travelling/camping in National Parks around the country. Their goals are to visit to every National Park in the future!

She is always ready to answer any questions and/or provide further information on how she and her wonderful team can assist you with your clients and their pets – so please do not hesitate to contact her today.
